The Glacier Express—Perhaps the Ultimate Train Experience

In this magnificent film viewers are provided with what is probably one of the most impressive and romantic train journeys in the world. On June 25, 1930 the first “Glacier Express” left the city of Zermatt on a truly unique journey literally through the mountains. Because of snow and avalanche dangers the journey was not possible in winter and thus only used in the summer. This changes in 1892 when the Furka Base tunnel was opened and the avalanche risks could be avoided. After that the “Glacier Express” shucked the humorous moniker, “the world’s slowest express” and became one of Switzerland’s top attractions.
